SAN PABLO TUNNEL FOR CHILDREN PROPOSED

Council Orders Plans Prepared On Improvement

After explaining the necessity of a pedestrian tunnel crossing San Pablo avenue to protect the lives of the children who are forced to cross the thoroughfare in order to attend the Woodrow Wilson school before the city council last night, Councilman W. W. Scott made a motion which was adopted, that the city engineer prepare plans and specifications for the work, and submit them to the council at an early date.

Scott stated that at the present time a policeman was stationed at San Pablo avenue and Roosevelt part of the time, but as children were crossing at all hours of the day, it was impossible to keep him there all of the time, hence the danger element in life was very great. Scott said the money that would be saved in the salaries of policemen would pay the cost of the work.

The proposed tunnel would go under the avenue at Roosevelt and would be 102 feet in length. It would be seven feet in width and eight feet in height. The entrances would be between the curbing and the sidewalk in the parking area.

Engineer E. A. Hoffman said he

Hoover Ready To Close Campaign

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—UP—Herbert Hoover began to clear off his desk today preparatory to his departure for the west Thursday and the wind-up of a campaign for the presidency that has been unique in many respects.

The contrast between his type of campaign and that conducted by his democrat opponent, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, was no more strikingly shown than today, just eight days before the nation will

Lightning Blamed For Arson Mania

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—(U.P.)—Frederick A. Pierce, 55-year-old janitor, accused of setting six fires in Manual Arts high school here, today asserted his mania had resulted from being struck by lightning in Boston in 1920.

Pierce said he resumed work shortly after the accident, but that he frequently lost possession of his senses. After he had recovered several times near a fire he was confined to the Westborough asylum at Worcester, Mass., he admitted.

Pierce said that he was released apparently cured, but that in the last year he found himself falling back to his old tendencies. He has been remanded to the State hospital for the insane at Norwalk, where it is hoped to cure him.

Named by an impartial committee the group consists of Engineer A. J. Wiley, Boise, Idaho; Engineer Charles H. Paul, Dayton, Ohio; Charles D. Marx, professor emeritus of engineering at Stanford University and Geologist P. L. Ransome of the Institute of Technology at Pasadena.

Arthur P. Davis, chief engineer in charge of construction for the East Bay Utility district accompanied the engineers when they visited the dam site and will assist in supplying them with figures regarding the construction.

According to Dr. George C. Pardee, president of the district the group has been given an absolutely free hand in the investigation and in the making of recommendations as to what is to be done about the completion or abandonment of the dam.

CLUB LEADER STRESSES NEED

Whether East Shore Park, one of the landmarks of the east bay section and which was in existence before the birth of Richmond, is to be acquired as a part of the park system of this city, will be determined by the council in the near future.

The matter was brought to the attention of the council last night by Phillip Angeli, the president of the Stege Improvement club. He asked that the property be purchased by the city, as the people of that section had no recreation place for its people, nor any place of public gathering. He said the Stege school house could not be used on account of the lack of an auditorium.

Angeli further stated that just last week representatives of an industrial concern were inspecting

CAMP RAZED BY FLAMES

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 29.—Nine summer homes were destroyed and damages estimated at $30,000 were caused when a fire, believed to have been started by arsonists, threatened Camp Meeker today.

Members of the Monte Rio fire department, aided by volunteers, fought the blaze.

Rain Clouds Expected To Extend Visit

Although not the first rain of the season, Jupiter Pluvius is serious this time, according to the U. S. weather bureau. The light rain which started to fall early yesterday afternoon will cotinue through today according to the weather man. In fact there is no telling when the visit of the rain man will come to an end.

Unsettled and cloudy is what the weather forecaster had to say for today. Gentle variable winds which are also on the way may send the rain clouds away before much moisture falls, however.

CRASH JURY RECOMMENDS FLAGMAN AT CUTTING AVE.

Recommendations that a flagman be stationed at the Cutting boulevard crossing near Pullman avenue of the Southern Pacific railroad were made by the jury at an inquest conducted last night into the death of Mrs. Charles F. Hall and her daughter, Norma Carlin Hall.

The jury failed to fix the blame for the crash between the Southern Pacific train and the car driven by Mrs. Hall.

One of the principal witnesses at the inquest which was conducted in the courtroom of Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Alstrom, was Lola Hall, 11, one of the four survivors of the crash.

In a clear straight forward way, Leola told how her mother had stopped at the crossing while a switch engine and train of freight cars had passed. Norma and her mother were in the front seat. She and the three Day girls, Catherine, 6, Lily 11, and Lillian 12, were on the rear seat of the machine.

Her mother she said, fell across

HOME TRADE MEETING MONDAY

The opening gun in a movement to sell Richmond to Richmond people and encourage shopping here will be fired next Monday night at a dinner meeting at the Hotel Carquinez at which the recently appointed committee from the Chamber of Commerce will hold its preliminary conference with the directors of the Merchants' association on this question.

The Chamber has named a committee made up of Charles S. Renwick, chairman; Aubrey Wilson, Fred Newsom, E. B. Bull and George D. Rooney to cooperate with the Merchants' association on a movement to stimulate retail business here.

Following the weekly meeting of the merchants yesterday, it was announced by Louis Garfinkle, president of that group, that he will not name a special committee, but that the whole board of the association will meet with the chamber committee.

The thought that Richmond lacks civic events and social gatherings to keep its people interested and at home, was voiced at yesterday's meeting. Attention was called to the fact that the shoppers' pass authorized by the Railroad Commission over the Key System Transit lines works an unfair advantage against Richmond and in favor of Oakland on big shopping days.

It was suggested that both these points and such others as might occur to the committee members would come up for discussion at the meeting next Monday night.

Another purpose of the session will be a discussion of the Christmas decorations for the streets and stores in view of the approaching holiday season. President Garfinkle made a plea for the largest possible attendance of members at the meeting.

COOPER WINS CITY PRAISE

"There are not many people in our city who realize the importance of Richmond in state matters," said City Attorney T. M. Carlson at the meeting of the council last evening. "In the state Richmond stands fourth in the industrial line, fourth in the value of manufactured products, fourth in pay roll, and fourth in tonnage.

"These achievements are something to be proud of but on top of these Richmond stands first of all the cities of the United States in the matter of fire prevention, which is due to the work of Fire Chief W. P. Cooper and his loyal men, who make up the fire department, and I think they are entitled to a great deal of credit."

The remarks were very appropriate as Fire Chief Cooper has just returned home from two con-

Steamers See Big Dirigible On Return Hop

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—UP—Jockeying to take advantage of a stiff wind from the northwest, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin felt its way through the darkness high over the Atlantic ocean tonight, following an uncertain air lane toward its home port Friedrichshafen, Germany.

As the first commercial trans-Atlantic dirigible slipped shadow-like over the rough north Atlantic at dusk, it apparently had encountered the first adverse weather since its departure from Lakehurst naval air station at 1:54 a. m. The half-gale, reported when the dirigible passed over the S. S. American Trader at 12:15 p. m. (EST) approximately 300 miles south and east of Cape Sable, Nova Scotia, may bring rain and squalls, weather reports indicated.

The Graf Zeppelin carries 25 passengers, her crew of 38 men and one youthful stowaway, who hid himself on board the big silver ship as it rested in the Lakehurst hanger. The stowaway—Clarence Terhune —was reported in dispatches to Berlin newspapers as an adventurous youth of 17.

Apparently cruising at close to its normal speed of more than 60 miles an hour, the dirigible's progress was checked regularly until Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the giant airship, had turned its nose over the ocean and passed

The proposed route of the new bus system is from San Pablo avenue and the northerly city limits along San Pablo avenue to Barrett, then down Barrett to Twenty third and Macdonald, two blocks, then back to Barrett across the Southern Pacific when it will run on Nevin and down to Tenth street.

Oakland Recall Election Dec. 18

OAKLAND, Oct. 29.—Dates for a municipal election has been set by the city council for Dec. 18. At that time three propositions will be voted on. They are: Recall of Commissioner C. C. Young; election of 15 freeholders to frame a new charter; an amendment to the city charter to provide for a city manager form of government.

GOV. SMITH SHOULD MAKE MORE SPEECHES

Gov. Smith's first speaking trip was an unqualified success—from the republican standpoint. If he does no better in subsequent efforts, Herbert Hoover may yet have to thank him for being the most effective orator on his side.

It now appears to be the concensus of opinion that Gov. Smith's chances of election would have been far greater had he never tentured upon his western expedition, for upon that trip he demonstrated to the country that lies west of the Alleghanies that he is a hopeless provincial—that he simply can't think in terms of anything but New York City.

That metropolis, the home of the Tammany tiger, is at once his Alpha and Omega. It is the only thing he understands, because repeated elections in his own state have demonstrated that he even lacks the confidence of New York farmers whom he so frequently has attempted to Tammanyize. But thanks to that republican majority in the legislature which he has undertaken to belittle, New York farmers have not yet found it necessary to bow to Tammany.

Gov. Smith's trip has demonstrated that it was no idle statement he made when he said that state for state, of the union is a duplication of New York state. That is at once an affront and an injustice, and fully explains the hopeless maze of words upon which he entered in his several discussions that revealed him to be completely lacking in an understanding of the aims, aspirations and problems of the west and middle west.

Nobody knows what he was driving at in his farm speech; his Oklahoma address was as unfortunate as it was unjustified because therein he injected a religious issue into the campaign; his Denver address, according to persons who should be favorable to him, was a "flop" and might better not have been made from the Democratic standpoint, and so the list could be extended.

While the democratic candidate has been indulging in Tammany politics, Mr. Hoover made his Newark labor speech, an address which reveals the mind of a statesman and a man who knows not only what it means to work with his hands, but who is dedicated to use all his wisdom and experience to get a square deal for the farmers and workers of this country.

And, what is more, the impression is growing daily that the people of the country have sized up things in the same way and that Hoover will receive the call to the higher service of the American people. But, it is too early for any republican to stop working for the election of the ticket.

NUMBER SEVEN

Although No. 7 on the November ballot involves a method of settlement for the long disputed question of Riparian rights, to determine which citizens and property owners of the State of California have expended millions of dollars in the past half century, the fact remains that there is no organized opposition to the ratification of this measure which was passed almost unanimously by both the Assembly and Senate in the last session of the Legislature. This measure, popularly known as the water amendment; will upon its ratification in November become the law of the land; in which event California will have arrived at the beginning of a new era in the development, conservation and distribution of its vast water resources.

Not since the system of popular voting has been in vogue in this state has such an important measure been submitted to the electors of the commonwealth. If therefor, behooves every citizen to vote in the affirmative on proposition No. 7.

BEAUTY

Dear Miss Lane,

I am so unfortunate as to have a heavy growth of hair on my arms and legs. Is there anything that I can do to remedy it?—Jane C. L.

There are any number of excellent depilatories on the market which will help you rid yourself of hair on your arms and legs. The only way to remove hair permanently is to go to a dermatologist and have it treated with an electric needle but in your case I would recommend the depilatory.

In cases where the growth on arms or legs is not too heavy, frequent applications of peroxide of hydrogen will bleach it so that it will be less noticable and and, if a little ammonia is added to the solution, will tend to discourage the growth of hair.

Dear Miss Lane

What, in your opinion, is the best way to shape thick eyebrows? Mine are much too heavy and I would like to thin them out.—Louise.

Plucking the superfluous hairs with a tweezer designed for this purpose is the most successful method. Soften the skin first with cold cream so that the hairs will come out easily and, after brushing the operation, bathe the skin with witch hazel to prevent irritation.

History and landmarks, and an anti-rodeo talk were featured at the regular meeting of Richmond club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Florence Douson Schoneman of Los Angeles, and state chairman of the history and landmarks department of the California Federation of Women's clubs appealed to the members of the local organization to preserve landmarks in the community, perpetuate their own civic history, and vote for Amendment No. 4, which will save beaches, forests and historical sites throughout the state.

Mrs. Schoneman urged also the proper pronunciation of old Indian and Spanish names, and deplored the changing of any old names to those more easily pronounced by strangers in the state.

Mrs. Schoneman gave a most interesting account of California romance, starting with the time when California first became known to the Chinese, who in trading in Spanish ports, inspired Spain with the desire to find California. She sketched the early expeditions to the coast, told of the 21 missions from San Diego to Sonoma, where Indians were trained and Christianized. She developed the romance of early California through the first settling of six Spanish families in Santa Barbara, the arrival of the Russians in 1812 of the Mexican settlers in 1822 and the arrival of the American fur trader in '46.

Mrs. McPheny of San Francisco, who is Mrs. Schoneman's hostess during her stay in the northern part of the state, was also a guest.

Appropriate to the history and landmarks program, Mrs. James A. Stuart sang "Down in the Forest" by Ronald, "Trees" by Rasbach and for an encore, a Scotch ballad by Robert Burns. She was accompanied by Mrs. Florence Clark.

Mrs. Beulah Tiller, chairman of legislation was chairman of the day and had secured a motion picture shown under the auspices of the California anti-rodeo cruelty association. Following the picture which depicted the alleged cruelties practiced in the rodeos and bull fights, Albert Nelson, attorney of Oakland, spoke on the twenty first amendment urging the clubwomen to vote to put an end to the alleged brutalities existing.

Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon by Mrs. T. T. Kramer, Mrs. C. A. Odell and Mrs. J. P. Smith.

The Richmond club has accepted an invitation to attend the meeting of the Cosmopolitan club on Saturday evening, November 3 at the McKinley Junior high school at 8 o'clock.

WHITE SHADOWS UNIQUE LOVE DRAMA

The love drama of the happiest people in the world—the first true picture of the South Seas.

These and many other paens of praise have been lavished and will be lavished in the future on Metro Goldwyn Mayer's 'White Shadows in the South Seas,' which opened at the California theatre yesterday.

To get this picture Metro sent an expedition of sixty men and women more than 5,000 miles from their home studio. They arrived at Tahiti in the South Seas; encountered terrific hardships, climbed mountains, braved tropical storms, were shipwrecked at sea, lost themselves in depths of jungle never before explored and returned to civilization after six months absence with a story the like of which has never before been shown on the screen.

It is a triumph to Monte Blue, who as the beachcomber doctor, gives a performance that at times rises to the very heights of dramatic acting; it is a triumph to the slim and lovely Raquel Torres who makes her native princess a woman to be truly fought for and loved.

But most of all it is a triumph for W. S. Van Dyke, the director who, when the French officials at the islands said, 'it couldn't be done'— went and did it.

His theme is a simple one—the inevitable effect of white civilization on the simple natives. The white doctor Blue, struggles intensely to protect them and then—led on by the white man's instinctive urge for power—causes their destruction.

With all these superlatives, it might be thought that 'White Shadows of the South Seas' was a picture worth seeing—it is, so don't miss it.

He was slain with a shotgun by three men, who fled in an automobile.

Officers described the killing as "another chapter in the bootleggers war" in Los Animas county.

LOCAL HOOVER LEADER SEES VICTORY

was a good policy is proven by the results we are obtaining in the district. Our workers are enthusiastic in their efforts, for they find the people in a more receptive mood.

Many Aid

The following clubs have already been formed: Central Hoover-Curtis club, Womens Republican club and Veterans Hoover-Curtis club. A Democrat club is being organized, and, before the end of the week, there will be a club in every election precinct, 38 in Richmond alone.

There has been one big rally which had to be held in the Roosevelt Junior high school auditorium, as no other hall in town could hold the crowd. The Womens Republican club will hold a meeting Thursday in the Womens club building. These were all the meetings found necessary as the radio has brought the speeches right to the voters in their homes.

Whispering Campaign

At the beginning of the campaign Tammany taught the Democratic party their election tricks. One of these is to accuse their opponents of whispering, the very thing which they, themselves, had already started doing. Their progoganda, extendel all over the country and has even been whispered in our district.

Prohibition is Democratic legislation. Some voters were influenced by Governor Smith's stand on the liquor question, until they found that his hands were tied with 75 per cent of the Democratic senators and congressmen pledged against him, and that all he could do would be to recommend.

For Tariff

This is a manufacuring district. Most of the people within it obtain their livelihood from manufacturing, either directly or indirectly. Naturally they are for the Protective tariff, and therefore for the party that has been the friend of tariff for seventy years and against the party which has been its enemy for a like time. They have not forgotten the Democratic Underwood tariff which put 6,000,000 people out of work in 1920, nor have they forgotten the Republican Fordney-McCumber tariff of 1921 which put them back to work again. This last tariff protects 139 of California's products, and these products are the basis of Richmond and vicinity prosperity. Senators Shortridge and Johnson and Congressman Curry have been untiring in their efforts to obtain protection for California products.

HARD WORK

Richmond has worked hard to become the great city it is. It has wonderful prospects for the future. Its people are not going to vote to undo all of this. They know if Hoover is not elected that uncertainty will surely come. This will cause all manufacturers, farmers and orchardists to hold back to see what is going to happen. Prospective work will be held up, and thus start unemployment. On the contrary, if Hoover is elected, it will at once bring confidence, contemplated improvements will be started, and the prosperity of Richmond increased.

Our canvas shows the Hoover vote growing each day, and numerous Democrats are joining our forces.

Anyone desiring Hoover-Curtis supplies may obtain same by applying at our Headquarters in the Pillows Building, Macdonald at Seventh street.

COOPER LAUDED AT COUNCIL SESSION

ventions, one the Pacific Coast convention of Fire Chiefs, held a Sacramento, where Richmond was awarded the trophy for fire prevention in cities of a population of less than 50,000, and a trophy that was awarded Richmond by the International covetnion of fire chiefs held at Philadelphia in competition with all cities in the United States. The only other cities in close competition with Richmond at the International convention were Newark, New Jersey; Dubuque Iowa and Baton Rouge, La.

Chief Cooper responded to the statements of the city attorney by saying he warmly appreciated the sentiments expressed, thanked the council for permitting him to make the trip east, said that Richmond would benefit a great deal as a result of the award, but he wanted the public to understand that it was not the members of the fire department and himself responsible alone for the trophies captured, but as a result of the whole hearted cooperation of the members of the council, the city officials and the people in general of this city.

"Every person in the city" said Cooper, had a hand in this work, and they are entitled to their share of the credit."

Councilman A. L. Paulson also praised the work of the department, and said on account of the excellent work that had been done, insurance rates had been decreased many times, which meant the saving of thousands of dollars to the property owners of Richmond.

Mayor Mattie Chandler closed the discussion by saying "The city of Richmond is proud of its fire chief and the fire boys.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

Copyright, 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"THE SINGING FOOL," starring Al Jolson, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, marries Molly Winton, not knowing he is loved by Grace Farrel, a loyal little cigarette girl. After Al wins fame as a composer of popular songs, Molly elopes with John Perry, taking her baby, Junior, as he sails for France. Al, broken by the loss, becomes a derelict, but is saved by Grace Farrel, and recovers to appear in a Broadway revue. Molly obtains a Paris divorce, but Perry deserts her. Grace and Al plan marriage. One night as they reach the theatre where Al is appearing, a 'phone call comes from Molly, who has just returned to America, telling Al to rush to the hospital. Molly meets him.

CHAPTER XXX

"It's Junior," she said, and led him toward the little white room.

Al took one look at Molly's face of anguish and tip-toed toward the bed. Junior seemed to sense his father's presence, for he opened his eyes and gave a wan smile. As Al leaned over to kiss the tiny hands and feverish brow he saw how shrunken the little figure was that had once been so vital with health. He was dazed by the sight, for it was apparent that the hand of death was on Junior. But Al wouldn't let himself believe that.

He turned to Molly. "What—?"

But Molly wouldn't explain, nor could she meet Al's steady gaze,

"Daddy—I missed you—awful much."

which grew more accusing every moment. She quickly walked into the hallway and Al followed.

"What have you done to him?" he demanded, eyes blazing with rage. "You didn't take care of him, you let him get sick!"

Suddenly Al's rage passed—this was no time for accusations. He heard Junior's voice calling weakly. He ran back, dropping on his knees beside the bed. Then Junior, in a voice that was like a faint, poignant memory, said:

"Daddy—I missed you—awful much."

Al choked back the tears. "And Daddy missed you, too, Junior—awful much. But now you've come back—now you're going to get well soon and—we'll never be separated again!"

Junior tried to smile. That was nice, he thought, but somehow his daddy's voice sounded faraway. Really, Al's face was very near to him and he was trying desperately to pull Junior back to life by his own will power. For a moment he seemed partly successful, for Junior roused himself.

"Don't look so sad, Daddy," he whispered. "Make me laugh the way you used to."

Al tried to laugh, but there was hysteria in his laughter that Junior didn't notice. To the little boy this was his daddy just as in the days of old, laughing, making funny faces, reaching out loving hands to him. But in the midst of the tragic humor Junior grew drowsy and his mind went back to another happy circumstance of the old days.

"Daddy—sing me to sleep—please. That song—you used—to sing."

Only by placing his ear close to Junior's mouth did Al catch that murmured request. It seemed to him that his boy was drifting from him already. Then Junior gave another smile and Al's hope revived.

"I'll sing it, Junior. You mean 'Little Feller,' the song I wrote just for you."

Softly the words came, but with a penetrating, lifting quality. Again Al was striving against the terrible odds to bring his beloved child back from the Valley of Shadows. Molly, standing cross the room, stood with her hand over her mouth. In the grip of dreadful silence, listening to the familiar words, watching Al's body swaying gently to the rhythm.

As Al sang, Junior's eyelids drooped, then closed entirely. The eerie little smile stayed on his lips, retreated, came back, and—passed away. Was he asleep? Al thought so. He stopped singing, but remained kneeling, his eyes fixed on Junior's face. He didn't see the doctor return, bringing in a nurse. He didn't see them lean over Junior. . . . Then Al realized that he was standing up, facing the doctor. From a long distance came the words:

"Your boy is dead."

But Al would not have it. He brushed by the doctor, gathered Junior in his arms, and held him close.

"Don't go away, Junior! Stay with Daddy! I'll make you laugh, baby, I'll sing for you all day, I'll do anything—"

Tenderly they took Junior from Al's arms. . . . Now Junior was nowhere in sight. Al saw the white-robed figures of the nurses and the doctors pass and repass, like people in a dream, whose faces can't be distinguished. He heard an agonized voice—"Al!"—and knew Molly was calling him. But he didn't answer. . . . Now he was stumbling down the hallway, alone.

He was going somewhere—but where? Oh, yes, the theatre—it was time for him to go on. . . . He was walking down the outside hospital steps, swaying and reaching toward the railing for support. Then he was in his car, driving toward his destination. He never knew how he reached the theatre, but the stage-doorkeeper saw the little sport car turn the corner of the alley and come to a stop. Grace saw it too and ran forward with a little cry. One glance at Al's white face and she knew something terrible had happened.

"Junior's dead."

Al stood, gripping the door of the car afraid to let go. He saw Grace's eyes fill with tears. Then, through the stage doorway, came the sound of music—racing, gay, lively. It was the number just before Al's first appearance and he darted past Grace toward his dressing room. No matter what happens the actor must appear and entertain his audience! It's the unbreakable stage tradition!

Grace followed Al toward his dressing room, to see that he reached it safely, but she did not enter. She realized he wanted to be alone with his grief and that he must concentrate and hurry with the utmost intensity to be ready for his call. But the look she had seen in his eyes made her fearfully afraid to have him try his songs tonight. He simply wasn't up to the ordeal of facing that crowd out in front and making them laugh. If he collapsed it might throw him back into the attitude of despair from which she had rescued him. Like a little sentinel Grace paced up and down before his dressing room door, her deep sympathy with Al in this tragic hour mingling with her fear for him.

Inside, Al sat before his dressing table making up with feverish rapidity. His watch was before him—he had four minutes before his call. A large framed photograph of Junior stood at one side of the dressing table, but he did not let himself look at that. Every moment must be given to applying the black make-up. Behind that make-up he would feel more the performer, ready to go ahead at any cost. Now the burnt cork was applied and streaks of red outlined and accentuated his lips; he slipped into his clothes and came from the room a moment after the call-boy's knock.

Grace faced him. "Al, you shouldn't try to go on tonight."

"I'll have to, Gracie. The show's waiting—they expect me. I must."

He spoke desperately, trying to give himself strength and courage. Then he moved away, taking his usual place in the wings, waiting for his cue. He saw the stage manager nearby, watching the show; a chorus of Tiller girls drifted by him, giggling and happy over the applause their precision dancing had received; the lights went off and on as an eccentric dancer leaped on the stage. Al clasped his hands tightly to still their trembling—in a moment he would be out there himself. Grace was keeping out of his sight, but hovering near and watching him anxiously. She knew she couldn't stop him now, once his mind was fixed on going on.

Again the momentary darkness after the eccentric dancer finished his act, then a throb of apprehension on Al's part as he heard the orchestra go into his music. Heavens, they were playing "Little Feller!" He had forgotten that the song had been revived for his opening number. He put out his hand futilely, as if to stop them. Didn't they know he couldn't sing that song to the crowd?

PREVENT WASTE OF CALIFORNIA'S WATERS!

WATER. Declares general welfare requires water resources be beneficially used, and waste and unreasonable use prevented. * * *	Yes	X	Stamp Ballot Here
7. Appropriator or riparian owner lawfully entitled to water not to be deprived thereof.	No

This constitutional amendment passed the Legislature almost unanimously. No argument against it in the voters' handbook. Help save for irrigation the millions of acre feet of water annually flowing into the ocean!

One of the most important measures to be voted on at the general election Nov. 6, is proposition No. 7—the "Water Amendment," which was passed almost unanimously by the 1927 session of the state legislature. This is a measure of state-wide interest and as such has received the endorsement of many civic organizations and groups, including the chambers of commerce in various towns service clubs, etc. With no organized effort to defeat the ratification of the amendment, it is believed that No. 7 will be given a handsome majority.

The Water Users' Constitutional Amendment committee, which is sponsored by the California State Irrigation Association and the Irrigation District Association of California, has issued the following statement:

"This amendment is clear in its wording. It is a common-sense rule of the utmost importance to the future welfare of all the people of the state. It preserves to the riparian owner all the water to which he may now be entitled for reasonable use by reasonable methods of diversion and use, but declares that the Waste of Water Shall Be Prevented.

The State of California will never realize its full measure of growth and prosperity, and no great plan for the conservation and utilization of its waters can ever be put into operation, until the principle of 'unreasonable use' 'unreasonable method of use," and 'unreasonable method of diversion' is written into the Constitution.

For the past ten years each legislature has appoprited money to carry on through the office of the state engineer a study of the water resources of the State, with a view to the development of a comprehensive plan for their regulation, conservation and use, but unless this amendment is adopted all the money and labor will haw been wasted, for above every dam site and over every proposed diversion of water lies the spectre of this English doctrine to paralyze the first hand that may be lifted to carry on this beneficial program."

Gangster Held As Result Of Election Row

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—UP—"Mike De Pike" Heitler, reputed west side racketeer, was arrested today on warrants charging kidnaping and assault to kill in connection with acts of violence in the "bloody twentieth" ward at the April primary.

The arrest of Heitler had been sought since last June when the warrants were issued but he succeeded in evading police until today when a "tip" was given headquarters where he might be found.

Bond was set at $60,000 or $10,000 each on three charges of kidnaping and three of assault.

Violence in the "Bloody Twentieth" on election day was climaxed with the murder of Octavius Granady, candidate for ward committeeman. More than a score of indictments were returned, including those against Morris Eller, "boss" of the Twentieth ward, and his son, Judge Emanuel Eller.

Novel Contest To Select Radio Color Schemes

When Stewart-Warner had in preparation its new "800" series of radio sets a contest for designers was organized, according to R. H. Woodford, radio sales manager of the company. "The object of his contest" he says "was to get as many suggestions as possible for the finist of the new sets, and from the hundreds of color schemes submitted to choose the most effective. Everything from severe blacks and browns to the most wildly futuristic was offered, but the judges finally decided in favor of a scheme that combines richness and good taste.

"The foundation color is a full, golden bronze tone which shades off into a deep aristocratic brown at the edges. The contrast between the lively sparkle of the bronze and the conservative dignity of the rich brown is emphasized by the use of a 'moire' finish which lends brilliance to the entire set.

"The cabinet of this set is smaller than those of other sets in actual dimensions and is designed to give the impression of being still smaller. The dimensions are: 16 3-4 inches long 10 3-8 inches deep and 7 3-4 inches high. Carefully planned lines, lights and shadows and the new color scheme emphasize the compactness of the set. Small as it is, however, its weight, 35 pounds, shows that there has been no skimping of materials."

The Stewart-Warner radio models can be seen at the V. G. Electric Co., 1314 Macdonald avenue, Richmond dealers for the sets.

Youth Disgusted With Life Hangs Self In Garage

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29.—UP—A 17-year-old boy who found the world a sordid place, and steadily growing worse, put it behind today by leaving the breakfast table and hanging himself.

The youth, John Kirby Brown, seemed more melancholy than usual this morning.

"There were a lot of suicides over the week end," he said as he sat down at the breakfast table with his parents and his sister, Eta.

"The world's geeting worse instead of better. Every day it is getting worse.

"I'm tired of life," he said as he left the table. An hour later his sister found his body dangling from a rope in the family garage.

far out to sea. After noon today, there were a number of vessels along the route keeping watch for the progress of the ship or communicating by radio with Dr. Eckener.

Quiet Farewell

After leaving Lakehurst under favorable weather conditions, the Graf Zeppelin cruised under a full moon toward New York and with four of its five big motors singing a steady peaceful tune, passed over Broadway shortly after 3 a.m. A powerful beacon on the roof of a Brooklyn hotel touched the silver sides of the ship, a calm farewell in comparison to the shouting of thousands who saw the storm battered dirigible slip over New York's towers on a dull grey afternoon two weeks ago.

Majestically held aloft, the Graf Zeppelin turned away, moving to the north and east and racing over the tip of the island and toward the sea. The roar of the motors faded to an echo in the silent streets and a few policemen on late beats, a few tired scrub women who leaned from office windows and a handful of workers and men and women in fashionable dress standing before closed motors on upper Broadway saw the silver cloud dwindle away to the east.

Fights Wind

Curtiss field workers sighted the Graf Zeppelin shortly afterward, stubbornly fighting the strong wind from the north and 2 hours later the big craft cruised east of Watch hill, R. I., still slipping to the north along the coastline.

Striking east from the coast of Massachusetts, the dirigible apparently followed a due east course for the next few hours, being reported by the trawler Widgeon at 7:15 a. m. and by the S. S. American Trader, at noon. The wind had increased slightly in velocity, blowing at about half force, and the American Trader reported rain and squalls along the route.

The weather bureau reports indicated that Dr. Eckener would be forced to employ his greatest skill in escaping adverse weather, such as forced the dirigible far south of what would have been a normal route across the Atlantic on its trip two weeks ago.

EUREKA EDITOR HELD IN S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Alfred Lindsley, editor of a Eureka paper is under arrest today charged with impersonating a Federal officer. Police declare that Lindsley promised "protection" to the Redwood Cafe, 1228 Grant avenue for the sum of $100. Lindsley is said to have represented himself as a dry agent.

The proprietor of the cafe, Remy Ogher, appealed to the Federal agents, and a trap was laid. Today Lindsley is said to have accepted two $50 marked bills from the proprietor. Dry agents, stationed near the conference between Lindsley and Ogher overheard the conversation.

Lindsley served a jail sentence for contempt of court recently.

Mother Asks Probation On Girl Charges

MARTINEZ, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Maude Oare, 28, of Richmond today pleaded guilty before Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of her fourteen year old daughter. She asked probation.

The plea was referred to County Probation Officer Dr. Thomas Boyer who will make his report Monday.

William Hardwick, who with B. C. Rollins is being held on a statutory charge in connection with the girl's case, today pleaded guilty and asked for probation. Hearing of his plea will be made Monday.

Judge McKenzie stated that he "couldn't see how a man could expect probation in a case like this, providing the facts have been correctly stated to the court."

Rollins has asked a continuance until next Monday for him to plea.

crats' presidential candidate repeated what he called "my first adherence to the American doctrine of absolute separation of church and state."

Tieup Charged

In his effort to tie up the Republican campaign with the Klan Smith cited the following testimony:

A published notice of a joint meeting under the auspices of the Klan in New Jersey which he said was to be held in conjunction with the Republican National Committee.

A newspaper article charging that the publisher of "The Fellowship Forum," an anti-Catholic publication in Washington, who also is chairman of the Republican State Committee of Virginia, "was in the party of Mr. Hoover on his trip to Elizabethton, Tennessee."

Cross Burned

Burning of the fiery cross beside the tracks as the Smith special train passed last Saturday night through Indiana, which spectacle Smith said he had been informed "was intended as a defiance of the Klan to my presence in the state."

Smith laid a scathing attack upon the principles of the Klan, saying:

"They are entirely, to my mind without any understanding of the fundamentals of American thought and American ideals. That they are actively engaged in promoting the cause of the Republican party, nobody would have the hardihood to deny, and there is abundant testimony that their activity is encouraged by some of the leaders of the Republican party.

"What a hollow mockery!

Defiance Charged

"Men professing a belief in Christianity and in Americanism, to find it necessary to raise between heaven and earth the emblem of the Christian faith as a defiance to me because of my religious belief!

"I would rather go down to ignominious defeat than to be raised to the greatest position in the gift of the people by an influence that may be exerted by any organization with such perverted ideas of Americanism.

"While I think of them as a small group of misled, if not ignorant people, nevertheless this campaign brings home to the electors that the klan is one of the forces behind the republican party."

Attacks League

"Smith was equally bold and emphatic in his attack upon the anti-saloon league, to which he attributed "narrow, prejudiced and bigoted ideas." The nominee said the league had issued a threat against Senator Norris of Nebraska because he recently pledged his support to the democratic ticket.

"I can think of no greater farce for even this country than an organization which, through any of its spokesmen, threatens disaster to the public statesman who does not submit to its dictation," the governor added.

Dry Charges

From these charges he launched into an effort to dispel any idea that prohibition as a dogma of religion.

"I know of no church," he said, "in this country, that makes Volsteadism or the eighteenth amendment an article of religious faith.

"You cannot make a new sin by law. If it was not inscribed on the tables of stone that were handed down to Moses on the mount, it is not a sin. The Volstead act was not passed until 1919 and then over the veto of President Wilson."

Smith took as the theme of his speech an attack upon the "old order of things," especially with reference to foreign policy, tariff, water power, government reorganization and prohibition. He promised if elected to institute a new order of things designed to make the government "constructive and not destructive, progressive and not reactionary."

The candidate said his foreign policy, if he were elected, would be based upon the simple rule: "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." He declared he would eliminate the friction between the state department and the senate which he contended has grown up in the last few years.

"I am satisfied the American people will no longer tolerate interference within the internal affairs of South American republics," he added.

"Ask Senator Borah for example what he thinks of the foreign policy of the present republican administration in so far as it applies to our intervention in an election dispute in Nicaragua.

"Under my admnistration there will be no diplomacy practised that will permit the exploitation of weaker nations.

"The republican party holds out but little hope to the American people for a forward looking foreign policy, in view of the fact that Mr. Hoover promises to follow the Coolidge policies, which policies have been uniformly—in season and out of season—denounced on the floor of the senate by republican chairman of the committee on foreign relations." (Borah).

Foreign Responsibility

Smith said that while he believed the American people would always be ready and willing to assume their fair share of responsibility for the administration of the world, they would not enter political alliance with any foreign nations."

The candidate took notice of Norris's declaration for him Saturday night and said:

"I want to take this opportunity to assure him publicly that he will never have any cause to regret what he said with respect to my attitude toward these great public question—'water power farm relief and foreign relations.' "

In his condemnation of the republican campaign, Smith resurrected the republican party slogan of the 1920 campaign, "Lets be done with wiggle and wobble." He sought to show that his republican opponent was wiggling and wobbling on the issues he mentioned, particularly prohibition and water power. It was the shortest speech Smith had delivered in the campaign and one of the most pungent.

As the result of a victory over the city of San Pablo ball club the Guarantee Shoe club is now in the lead in the Oakland Mid-winter League.

Playing a close, hard game, the Shoes defeated the San Pablo boys 7 to 6 at the Emeryville ball park Sunday morning. Gillispi started on the mound for the San Pablo outfit and pitched good ball for the losers except in the fourth inning. In that stanza three hits, a couple of stolen bases and an error by Butler accounted for four runs.

The losers tried to overcome the four run lead but Francis Robertson, who was on the mound for the Shoes was too much for them. Boreani was star man for the San Pablo club. He clouted a triple, a double and a single in three trips at the plate.

Y. M. I. Eleven Loses To Fast Jarhead Team

The West Coast Army corps football team proved itself far superior to the Y. M. I. eleven, coached by Fred Swan of Richmond at Kezar stadium Sunday. The Jarheads took a 24 to 8 victory.

Speicher, Army back, gave the fans a thrill. Among his other feats, he raced 83 yards for the final Army touchdown. Captain Ganuzzi and Blough shared honors with Speicher for the Jarheads.

The Y. M. I. eleven was on the defensive during most of the game.

$28,000 TIED UP IN BAKER FIGHT

LOS ANGELES, OCt. 29.—More money is tied up in the Jackie Fields-Sammy Baker bout scheduled for Wrigley field tonight than in any match probably ever held in this state.

The boxing commission is holding checks from the fighters and the Olympic club totaling $28,000.

The two principals have each posted weight forfeits of $1,000 each. The weight for the bout is 147 pounds.

The club is guaranteeing Fields $13,500 and Baker $12,500.

It is a rule of the State Athletic commission that the club post a bond covering two-thirds the amount the fight figures to draw.

Guarantee Given

But in this case where the fighters get a guarantee instead of percentage the guarantee has to be put up.

The match is having a steady sale and the last-minute rush is expected to swell the gate over the $50,000.

If the "take" goes over this mark the fighters may have the privilege of a percentage.

This is the most money Fields has ever drawn down. But he has never been the card he has become since beating Jack Thompson who had stopped Joe Dundee, welterweight champion.

Baker has received more money than his present guarantee, but drew it on a percentage.

Hudkins Fight

The sergeant's check for the Ace Hudkins fight here was over $20,000. The match drew $93,000 which held the record until last February when George Godfrey and Paolino Uzcudun attracted a $125,000 gate.

The heavyweights magnetized a golden flood. The boxoffice banked over $90,000 before leaving for the park.

Fields and Baker figure on paper to make a greater battle than the giant negro and the Spaniard, but heavyweights are bigger bait.

Mrs. Oliveiar Asks Divorce

MARTINEZ, Oct. 29—Mrs. Lucille Oliveiar, of Richmond, today through her attorney, Tsar N. Calfee asked for a divorce decree from her husband, William Oliveiar on a charge that he had lied to her, cursed her and has thrown furniture at her, according to the complaint.

She declares that after they were married he took her to a home in San Mateo which he said he owned. Subsequently, she says, she was ejected by the owner.

The couple married in 1922 and separated in 1926.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping." Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling, because it is so pure and harmless. It works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Women's Class Feted At Party In School Gym

Members of the women's gymnasium class at the Longfellow junior high school entertained last night at a delightful Hallowe'en party in the school gymnasium. The affair was held under the direction of Mrs. Holland and her team.

At the start of the year the class was divided into two teams and a membership contest was started. The winners, headed by Mrs. Evelyn Neville, were feted by the losers, headed by Mrs. Holland.

Games were played during the evening and a number of prizes were awarded. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the evening's fun.

The class meets every Monday night. Miss Ingeborg Adams is in charge of the group.

POSSE SEEK EUREKA SLAYER

EUREKA, Oct. 29.—Posses tonight were working throughout the forests of Humboldt county seeking the slayers of Arthur Tomlinson. Tomlinson was riddled with bullets as he stepped from the home of Deputy Sheriff Sam Tuley at Martins' Ferry last night.

Authorities believe that Tomlinson was mistaken for Tuley by gunmen, who were seeking vengance for the arrest and conviction of Marion Rube, a half-breed Indian. Rube recently escaped from a prison road camp and is believed to be ranging the woods near Martins' Ferry.

CITY ASKED TO PURCHASE PARK

the property as a possible factory site, and he did not think the city should allow the park to slip out from under it.

S. Carlsen, one of the pioneer residents of that section also urged the council to purchase the property as it could be purchased for a reasonable price at the present time, while ten years from now it would cost a fortune. Carlson said the price asked was $35,000 and that it contained seventeen acres, and had valuable improvements on it.

Councilman J. N. Hartnett said he thought there was a great deal of merit to the statements, and if there was any way of acquiring the parksite he was in favor of it. He suggested the matter had been discussed with the city manager, and it was his impression that official had a plan in mind. He suggested the matter go over for one week, to see if some possible plan might not be worked out.

San Francisco Man Misses Dirigible

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 29 UP—R. J. Burke, San Francisco business man and sportsman, missed being a passenger on the homeward cruise of the Graf Zeppelin today.

Burke came to Albuquerque Sunday in a plane with Herbert Fahy on a hop from Los Angeles. He was not feeling well and, thinking the dirigible would eave Lakehurst not earlier than Tuesday, decided to remain here overnight. When he arose this morning he learned of the ship's departure.

Council Refuses To Endorse Plan For Park Bonds

The city council last night refused to go on record as favoring the adoption of Amendment No. 4 which will appear on the November election ballot and which provides for a bond isue of $6,000,000 for the purchase of state parks.

The amendment provides the sites shall be selected by the state park commission and after this is done the state will furnish half of the purchase site and cities must bond themselves in order to provide for the other half if they expect to secure any of the state parks.

The council members were of the opinion that more bond issues should not be voted at this time, as there is much complaint at the present time about high taxes.

Second Protest On Closing Of Harbor Streets

The second protest against the proposed closing of certain streets in the tract of the Ellis Landing and Dock company was presented to the council at its meeting last evening.

The protestant, Miss E. E. Day registered her objection to the proposed action, stating she was the owner of three lots in the tract and the closing of the steets would work damage to her.

The streets that the council has been asked to close are East Wharf, West Wharf and a portion of Seventh street.

Jaw Fractured In Selby Fight

MARTINEZ, Oct. 29.—James Carroll, 37, a cook at Selby, is in the county jail today charged with battery as the result of a brawl with M. E. Hatton, 35, a waiter.

According to the sheriff's office, Carroll and Hatton started a heated dispute that ended in a blow being struck by Carroll. Hatton was removed to the county hospital with a fractured jaw.

SAN PABLO AVE. TUNNEL PLAN had made an estimate of the cost of the proposed improvement and it was $13,500.

If the work is finally ordered it will be done under the improvement act of 1911 and bonds would be issued to cover the cost.

Two possible assessment districts have been laid out. Under one plan the assessment district would take in all property east of San Pablo avenue to the easterly city limits and from the northerly city limits to the southerly city limits. If this district is adopted the cost for each 25 foot lot would be $3.75.

The other proposed district runs from Thirty-fourth street on the west to the easterly city limits and from the city limits on the north to the city limits on the south. If this district is adopted the cost of the improvement would be $1.75 per lot.

HOOVER READY TO CLOSE DRIVE

Completes Plans

Hoover spent the morning at his headquarters, conferring with only a few close lieutenants regarding the last phases of the campaign, and during the afternoon locked himself away from the world in the study of his home completing his St. Louis address. Smith, meanwhile, was shewing himself to crowds in Maryland, still waving the brown derby that has been the symbol of his vigorous stumping campaign for the presidency.

The republican presidential candidate began the final week of the campaign with that confidence of victory that has been manifest with him and his aides about headquarters for several weeks.

Hoover Quiet

Unless something unforseen develops between now and election Hoover will not be drawn out by his democratic opponent. He will continue to ignore demands of Smith that he answer his questions, except so far as he treats the democratic candidate's attacks in a general way in the four speeches he will make on his way to California to vote. Hoover will leave replies to some of the republican campaign corps, as hitherto. There was a stir about headquarters last week over Smith's Boston speech, but Hoover left replies to that to others.

Hoover will broaden the scope of his campaign on the western trip, as far as speech making is concerned, but the general tone will be the calm note that has signalized his campaign thus far.

He will make four speeches on his way west, a ten-minute talk at Cumberland, Maryland, a longer speech at Louiseville, his final general campaign appear at St. Louis over a National radio hook-up and a shorter speech at Pueblo, Colorado, over a radio hook-up that will reach all the mountain states.

Hoover's St. Louis address will emphasize farm relief and will constitute his major appeal for support from the broad belt of agricultural states. He is expected to offer nothing new as regards his farm relief program, but will treat the subject in greater detail than before. The republican candidate also is expected to touch generally on other issues, including inland waterways.

'Don Quixote' To Be Played At Roosevelt

Pupils of Roosevelt junior high school will present a play, "Don Quixote," in the auditorium of the school Friday night. Rehearsals have been in progress during the last three weeks, and the performance promises to be close to perfection.

Other members of the cast are:

Nicholas, a barber, Jack Bartlett; Sancho Panza, the Don's servant, Albert Schults; Dr. Peltz the curate of La Mancha, Walter Bradbury; Maria, the Don's house keeper, Dorothy Lane; Shepherd, Milton Crabb; Rosinante, the horse of Don Quixote himself; Dulcinea, a peasant girl, Lucille Costa; the Duke of Barataria, Clyde Barnhard; the Dutchess of Barataria, Gail Herbert; innkeeper, Ernest Miller; an officer of the Holy Brotherdh haemanan the Holy Brotherhood of Toledo, Frank Sharpe.

COUNCIL BANS EL CERRITO PROTESTS

The council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night passed a resolution prohibiting the audience from presenting any matter before the council during its meetings. The resolution provides that all communications on matters to come before the council must be presented to the clerk by 5 p.m. the Thursday previous to the meeting on Monday night so the councilmen can investigate and act on the suggestions at the regular meeting.

Final passage of the ordinance prohibiting the hauling of loads of over 15,000 pounds on Stockton avenue and Terrace Drive was voted by the council and will go into effect immediately. Heavier loads may be hauled over the streets by special permit from the city superintendent of streets.

City attorney J. H. Peters reported that it was entirely up to the council whether to accept the report of Grace Moses, who audited the books of former Police Judge W. A. Hinds, which showed funds unaccounted for of approximately $700 or the report of Hinds' auditor, which showed $5 due the city. In his report Peters said the council had to decide whether the errors were clerical or not.

Mayor Phil A. Lee informed the audience that no action would be taken by the council until the suit of Hinds against him was disposed of.

—o—

That the alleged bribery case of an attempt to bribe Phil A. Lee was presented to the district attorney's office too late to get evidence to present the Grand Jury was the report given by City Attorney J. H. Peters on request of Fred Begerow.

Begerow said the report he wanted was the testimony given the Grand Jury by Lee and a Mr. Greene and that the case was not finished yet.

—o—

Request of Mrs. J. B. Smith to have gravel placed on Everett street in front of the new home she is having erected so she would be able to get in and out during the rainy season was referred to Street Commissioner Peter Larsen.

—o—

The council ordered the purchase of 30 feet of one inch pipe for the cleaning of culverts on the recommendation of Councilman Peter Larsen.

—o—

A resolution closing that portion of Road No. 6 at the end of Arlington avenue and ordering the city attorney to draw up a deed giving it to the Berkeley Country Club was passed by the council.

—o—

Councilman Ernest O'Brien reported to the council that Barrett avenue was in a very bad condition and while he thought the estimate of $2650 for repairing the street was high that the city should make some temporary repairs. The matter was then referred to Street Commissioner Peter Larsen for one week.
